CASUALTY, SURETY AND MISCELLANEOUS INSURANCE COMPANIES IN THE UNITED STATES

CASUALTY, SURETY AND MISCELLANEOUS INSURANCE COMPANIES IN THE UNITED STATES

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

SYNOPSIS OF THE STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS OF THE SEVERAL STATES AND TERRITORIES AS THEY APPLY TO STOCK CASUALTY, SURETY, FIDELITY AND MISCELLANEOUS INSURANCE COMPANIES OF OTHER STATES

In the following pages will be found concise statements of the statutory requirements for the admission of stock casualty, surety, fidelity, and miscellaneous insurance companies other than fire and life, to do business in the respective States. In this brief form, the synopses are intended more as a hint than an actual guide, for it is not anticipated that any company on entering a State would be satisfied with anything less than the statutes themselves as their reliance as to conditions. Our summary, however, may be accepted as correct as far as it goes.

It has been our aim in preparing these synopses of the statutes to secure uniformity for all the States and to give the essential requirements in as brief a space as possible consistent with the statement of the facts. The synopsis for each State was sent to the supervising officer of such State and returned to us with his approval to date, or with such corrections as he deemed essential. We believe that the information given in this condensed form is as correct as it is possible to make it, and will be sufficient to indicate to all interested the statutory requirements of the several States and Territories.

ALABAMA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, C. B. SMITH, COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE, MONTGOMERY.

ADVERTISEMENTS, REGULATIONS GOVERNING.—Abstract of statement for publication in newspaper of general circulation. A uniform charge of $10 is made for publishing statement. This amount may be remitted direct to such paper or to Insurance Department and matter will have attention. Section 6. The indebtedness for outstanding losses under insurance against loss or damage resulting from accident to or injuries suffered by an employee or other person and for which the insured is liable, and under insurance against loss from liability on account of the death of or injury to an employee not caused by the negligence of the employer, shall be determined as follows: Each corporation which, in this State, writes policies covering any of said kinds of insurance shall include in the annual statement required by section four of this act a schedule of its experience thereunder, in the United States and foreign countries in the case of corporations organized in the United States, and in the United States only in the case of corporations organized outside of the United States, giving each calendar year's experience separately, and crediting or charging each item to the year in which the policy to which it relates was written, as follows: (1) The earned premiums on all such policies written during the period of ten years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, being the gross premiums on all such policies including excess and additional premiums and premiums in course of collection, less return premiums and premiums on canceled policies, and less the unearned premiums on policies in force as shown in such annual statement; (2) the amount of all payments of whatsoever nature made by reason or on account of injuries covered by such policies written during said period. This amount shall include medical and surgical attendance. payments to claimants, legal expenses, salaries and expenses of investigators, adjusters and field men, rents, stationery, telegraph and telephone charges, postage, salaries and expenses of office employees, home office expenses, and all other payments made on account of such injuries, whether such payments are allocated to specific claims or are unallocated; (3) the number of suits being defended at the date as of which the statement is made, under policies written during said period, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, and a charge of seven hundred and fifty dollars for each suit; (4) the number of deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written during said period and not paid for at the date as of which the statement is made, and a charge of the amount necessary to pay for such deaths; (5) the number of unpaid claims, at the date as of which the statement is made, on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written during said period, and a charge equal to the present value of the estimated future payments; (6) the loss ratio determined from the foregoing as to each year separately, using as the divisor the earned premiums shown in item (1), and as the dividend the amount of payments shown in item (2), plus the amounts charged in items (3), (4) and (5); (7) the number of suits being defended, at the date as of which the statement is made, under policies written more than ten years prior to such date, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured; (8) the number of deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written more than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, and not paid for at such date; (9) the number of unpaid claims, at the date as of which the statement is made, on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written more than ten years prior to such date.

Section 7. All unallocated payments in item (2) made in a given calendar year subsequent to the first four years in which a corporation has been issuing such policies shall be distributed as follows: Thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and five per centum to the policies written in the fourth year preceding; and such payments made in the first four calendar years in which a corporation has been issuing such policies shall be distributed as follows: In the first calendar year one hundred per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year; in the second calendar year fifty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, and fifty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year; in the third calendar year forty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, and twenty per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding; and in the fourth calendar year thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, fifteen per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and a schedule showing such distribution shall be included in such annual statement.

Section 8. Each such corporation shall be charged with indebtedness for outstanding losses upon such policies determined as follows: (10) For all suits being defended under policies written more than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, one thousand dollars for each suit; (11) for all suits being defended under policies written more than five years and less than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, seven hundred and fifty dollars for each suit; (12) for all deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written more than five years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, the amount necessary to pay for such deaths; (13) for all unpaid claims on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence under policies written more than five years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, the present value of the estimated future payments; (14) for the policies written in the five years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, an amount determined as follows: multiply the earned premiums of each of such five years as shown in item (1) by the loss ratio ascertained as in item (6) on all the policies written in the first five years of the said ten-year period, using as the divisor the sum of the earned premiums shown in item (1) for such first five years, and as the dividend the sum of the payments shown in item (2) for such first five years plus the sum of the charges in items (3), (4) and (5) for such first five years; but the ratio to be used shall in no event be less than fifty per centum at and after December thirty-first, 1911, nor less than fifty-one per centum at and after December thirty-first, 1912, nor less than fifty-two per centum at and after December thirty-first, 1913, nor less than fifty-three per centum at and after December thirty-first, 1914, nor less than fifty-four per centum at and after December thirty-first, 1915, nor less than fifty-five per centum at and after December thirty-first, 1916; and from the amount so ascertained in each of the last five years of said ten-year period deduct all payments made under policies written in the corresponding year as shown in item (2), and the remainder in the case of each year shall be deemed the indebtedness for that year; provided, however, that if the remainder in the case of any year of the first three years of the five years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made shall be less than the sum of the three following items for that year at that date—(a) the number of suits, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, being defended under policies written in that year, and a charge of seven hundred and fifty dollars for each suit; (b) the amount necessary to pay for all deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written in that year, and (c) the present value of estimated unpaid claims on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written in that year, then the sum of said items (a), (b) and (c) shall be the indebtedness for that year.

Section 9. A corporation which has been issuing such policies for a period of less than ten years shall nevertheless include in its annual statement a schedule as hereinbefore required for the years in which it shall have issued such policies, and shall be charged with an indebtedness determined in the same manner; but in determining the indebtedness for policies written in the five years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, the minimum ratios hereinbefore prescribed shall be used, subject to the same deductions and provisions as in the case of corporations that have been issuing such policies for ten years or more.

Section 11. This act shall take effect October 1, 1911.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, CHARLES F. NESBIT, SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE, WASHINGTON.

ADVERTISEMENTS, REGULATIONS GOVERNING.—Law requires statement to be printed in one daily newspaper published in District of Columbia in March of each year.

AGENT DEFINED.—No provision.

AGENT'S LICENSE.—(See Company License.)

ANNUAL STATEMENT.—Final date for filing March 1.

ATTORNEY FOR SERVICE.—Appoint a resident of the District of Columbia. In the event of the absence or death of such person, the Superintendent of Insurance.

COMPANY DEFINED.—No provision.

COMPANY LICENSE.—The Superintendent of Insurance has issued the following regarding licenses:

All Companies and Associations. For filing charter and other qualifying documents, together with issuing license to company; such license authorizing the company to issue only its own policies, $10.

Local and Foreign Companies. Each insurance company, local or foreign, desiring to act as agent for the purpose of receiving business for another company, or for agents or representatives of any other company, is required to procure a "General Insurance License." Fee to be paid by the company, $50.

Foreign Companies. Must be licensed under Section 646 before they can in any way do business in the District of Columbia. A foreign company issuing its own policy to a person in the District of Columbia is not required to be represented by a policy-writing agent. If such a company desires, however, to do business in the District by issuing policies there, then its representative must hold a "General Insurance License." Fee to be paid by the agent, $50.

Agent's License. This "General Insurance License" may be issued to a person, or a firm not exceeding two members, or an association, or to a corporation, naming the secretary and one assistant secretary of either of such bodies having such officers. Under this form of license an unlimited number of companies may be represented by an agent; and power is granted to the license to appoint solicitors for each company he represents. A policy-writing agent may also act as broker. Fee to be paid by the agent, $50.

Broker's "General Insurance License." This license carries with it all the privileges granted an agent, except that the licensee cannot issue policies or appoint solicitors. A broker represents no company, but places the business he controls wherever he elects in companies that are licensed to do business in the District of Columbia. Fee to be paid by broker, $50.

Solicitor's License. A solicitor may be employed by any number of companies. Fee for each company represented, $5. Fee to be paid by solicitor.

Industrial Solicitor's License. Fee to be paid by the solicitor, $2 for each company represented.

Licenses for companies, agents, solicitors, and brokers doing business in the District will be in force until April 30; fees for which must be prepaid in the month of March, per statute. Applications for annual licenses for the same must be applied for and prepaid during the month of March. Annual licenses take effect May 1. All licenses for agents, brokers and solicitors are transferable by assignment; fee for each assignment being 25 cents.

COMPANY OF FOREIGN COUNTRY.—(See "Deposit.")

DEPOSIT.—Company of a foreign country, $100,000, with the proper official of some State of the United States; or in the registry of the Supreme Court of the District; United States or municipal bonds, in the sum of $100,000, to be approved by the Commissioners of the District.

FUNDS.—Foreign companies must have capital of at least $200,000 actually paid up and exclusive of assets deposited in any other State for benefit of policyholders there. But this shall not apply to mutual insurance companies or associations formed for the purpose of insuring a single class of property only. Plate glass companies need have only $100,000 capital, and companies insuring against personal accident exclusively and having $100,000 paid up capital and cash surplus safely invested in such amount as shall be approved by the Commissioner of Insurance, exclusive of assets deposited in other States, shall be deemed to be possessed of $200,000 actual capital. No company shall issue policies of insurance for more than one of the nine classes of insurance provided for, or expose itself to loss on any one risk to amount exceeding 10 per cent of its capital, unless amount is safely reinsured. Any company organized to insure health of persons and against personal accident, to insure employers against accident to employees or to property, resulting from any act of an employee or any accident or casualty to persons or property occurring in connection with their business or from the operation of any machinery connected therewith (except explosion of steam boilers), if it has a capital of $250,000, may also insure against steam boiler casualties or breakage of glass, and, if it has $300,000 capital, it may do all of above, including insurance of glass.

Companies operating under Sub.-Div. 5 of Sec. 1709, Code, may, if possessed of $500,000 actual paid-up capital, do the business contemplated by Sub.-Div. 2.

Provided that fidelity and surety companies may also insure against burglary. Restrictions applying to amount of risk do not apply to safe deposit companies, but a fidelity company cannot exceed on any one hazard, 10 per cent of its paid-up capital stock unless the excess is reinsured in some other company licensed to operate in this State.

IMPAIRMENT OF CAPITAL.—No agent shall be allowed to act for any company whose capital is impaired to the extent of 20 per cent thereof.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.—Authorized stock and mutual fire companies may issue the following policy aside from the standard fire policy:

(Automobile-Marine.) Insure vessels, freights, goods, wares, merchandise, specie, bullion, jewels, profits, commissions, bank notes, bills of exchange and other evidences of debt, bottomry and respondentia interests, and every insurance appertaining to or connected with marine risks of transportation and navigation, and insurance upon automobiles, whether stationary or being operated under their own power, which shall include all or any of the hazards of fire, explosion, transportation, collision, loss by legal liability for damage to property resulting from the maintenance and use of automobiles, and loss by burglary or theft or both, but shall not include insurance against loss by reason of bodily injury to the person.

The law requires notice or proofs of claim against health and accident companies to be filed within sixty days after knowledge by beneficiary.

In a case of a casualty insurance company writing insurance against loss or damage resulting from accident to or injuries suffered by an employee or other person and for which the insured is liable, and under insurance against loss from liability on account of the death of or injury to an employee not caused by the negligence of an employer, it shall carry as a liability an additional reserve to provide for the payment of its unpaid losses, the amount of which shall be determined as follows: Each corporation which writes policies covering any of said kinds of insurance shall include in the annual statement a schedule of its experience thereunder, in the United States and foreign countries in the case of corporations organized in the United States, and in the United States only in the case of corporations organized outside of the United States giving each calendar year's experience separately, and crediting or charging each item to the year in which the policy to which it relates was written, as follows: (1) The earned premiums on all such policies written during the period of ten years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, being the gross premiums on all such policies including excess and additional premiums and premiums in course of collection, less return premiums and premiums on canceled policies, and less the unearned premiums on policies in force as shown in such annual statement; (2) the amount of all payments of whatsoever nature made by reason or on account of injuries covered by such policies written during said period. This amount shall include medical and surgical attendance, payments to claimants, legal expenses, salaries and expenses of investigators, adjusters and field men, rents, stationery, telegraph and telephone charges, postage, salaries and expenses of office employees, home office expenses, and all other payments made on account of such injuries, whether such payments are allocated to specific claims or are unallocated; (3) the number of suits being defended at the date as of which the statement is made under policies written during said period, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, and a charge of seven hundred and fifty dollars for each suit; (4) the number of deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written during said period, and not paid for at the date as of which the statement is made, and of a charge of the amount necessary to pay for such deaths; (5) the number of unpaid claims at the date as of which the statement is made on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written during said period, and a charge equal to the present value of the estimated future payments; (6) the loss ratio determined from the foregoing as to each year separately, using as the divisor the earned premiums shown in item (1), and as the dividend the amount of payments shown in item (2), plus the amounts charged in items (3), (4) and (5); (7) the number of suits being defended at the date as of which the statement is made under policies written more than ten years prior to such date, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured; (8) the number of deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written more than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, and not paid for at such date; (9) the number of unpaid claims at the date as of which the statement is made on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written more than ten years prior to such date.

All unallocated payments in item (2) made in a given calendar year subsequent to the first four years in which a corporation has been issuing such policies shall be distributed as follows: Thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and five per centum to the policies written in the fourth year preceding, and such payments made in the first four calendar years in which a corporation has been issuing such policies shall be distributed as follows: In the first calendar year one hundred per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, in the second calendar year fifty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, and fifty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, in the third calendar year forty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, and twenty per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and in the fourth calendar year thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, fifteen per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and a schedule showing such distribution shall be included in such annual statement.

Each such corporation shall be charged with indebtedness for outstanding losses upon such policies determined as follows: (10) For all suits being defended under policies written more than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, one thousand dollars for each suit; (11) for all suits being defended under policies written more than five years and less than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, seven hundred and fifty dollars for each suit; (12) for all deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written more than five years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, the amount necessary to pay for such deaths; (13) for all unpaid claims on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence under policies written more than five years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, the present value of the estimated future payments; (14) for the policies written in the five years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made an amount determined as follows: Multiply the earned premiums of each of such five years as shown in item (1) by the loss ratio ascertained as in item (6) on all the policies written in the first five years of the said ten-year period, using as the divisor the sum of the earned premiums shown in item (1) for the first five years, and as the dividend the sum of the payments shown in item (2) for such first five years, plus the sum of the charges in items (3), (4) and (5) for such first five years, but the ratio to be used shall in no event be less than fifty per centum at and after December 31, 1911, nor less than fifty-one per centum at and after December 31, 1912, nor less than fifty-two per centum at and after December 31, 1913, nor less than fifty-three per centum at and after December 31, 1914, nor less than fifty-four per centum at and after December 31, 1915, nor less than fifty-five per centum at and after December 31, 1916, and from the amount so ascertained in each of the last five years of said ten-year period deduct all payments made under policies written in the corresponding year as shown in item (2), and the remainder in the case of each year shall be deemed the indebtedness for that year, provided, however, that if the remainder in the case of any year of the first three years of the five years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made shall be less than the sum of the three following items for that year at that date—(a) the number of suits, except suits in which liability is not dependent upon negligence of the insured, being defended under policies written in that year and a charge of seven hundred and fifty dollars for each suit; (b) the amount necessary to pay for all deaths for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written in that year, and (c) the present value of estimated unpaid claims on account of non-fatal injuries for which the insured are liable without proof of negligence, covered by policies written in that year—then the sum of said items (a), (b) and (c) shall be the indebtedness for that year.

A corporation which has been issuing such policies for a period of less than ten years shall nevertheless include in its annual statement a schedule as hereinbefore required for the years in which it shall have issued such policies, and shall be charged with an indebtedness determined in the same manner, but in determining the indebtedness for policies written in the five years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, the minimum ratios hereinbefore prescribed shall be used subject to the same deductions and provisions as in the case of corporations that have been issuing such policies for ten years or more.

Section 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 20, 1911.

Fidelity companies shall comply with all the provisions of law relative to security prescribed for foreign life companies, so far as applicable.

The publication of one agent's certificate suffices.

RECIPROCAL LAW.—Yes.

RESERVE FOR REINSURANCE, METHOD OF CALCULATION.—Title guaranty companies must set apart sum not less than two-thirds of capital stock as guarantee fund.

Reserves.—As liabilities of casualty companies, Superintendent shall charge, in addition to capital stock, all outstanding indebtedness of corporation and premium reserve on policies in force, equal to the unearned portions of the gross premiums charged for covering the risk, computed on each respective risk from date of issuance of policy, and reserve for outstanding losses under insurance against loss or damage from accident to employees or other persons computed as follows:

(1) For all liability suits being defended under policies written more than: (a) Ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, one thousand five hundred dollars for each suit. (b) Five and less than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, one thousand dollars for each suit. (c) Three and less than five years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, eight hundred and fifty dollars for each suit. (2) For all liability policies written during the three years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, such reserve shall be sixty per centum of the earned liability premiums of each of such three years less all loss and loss expense payments made under liability policies written in the corresponding years; but in any event, such reserve shall, for the first of such three years, be not less than seven hundred and fifty dollars for each outstanding liability suit on said year's policies. (3) For all compensation claims under policies written more than three years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, the present values at four per centum interest of the determined and the estimated future payments. (4) For all compensation claims under policies written in the three years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, such reserve shall be sixty-five per centum of the earned compensation premiums of each of such three years, less all loss and loss expense payments made in connection with such claims under policies written in the corresponding years; but in any event in the case of the first year of any such three-year period such reserve shall be not less than the present value at four per centum interest of the determined and the estimated unpaid compensation claims under policies written during such year; provided, however, that in computing the reserve for the statement for December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, the ratios sixty per centum and sixty-two and one-half per centum respectively shall be used instead of sixty-five per centum as hereinbefore provided. The term "earned premiums" as used herein shall include gross premiums charged on all policies written, including all determined excess and additional premiums, less return premiums, other than premiums returned to policyholders as dividends, and less reinsurance premiums and premiums on policies cancelled, and less unearned premiums on policies in force. But any participating company which has charged in its premiums a loading solely for dividends shall not be required to include such loading in its earned premiums, provided a statement of the amount of such loading has been filed with and approved by the superintendent of insurance. The term "compensation" as used in this act shall relate to all insurances effected by virtue of statutes providing compensation to employees for personal injuries irrespective of fault of the employer. The term "liability" shall relate to all insurance, except compensation insurance, against loss or damage from accident to or injuries suffered by an employee or other person and for which the insured is liable. The terms "loss payments" and "loss expense payments" as used herein shall include all payments to claimants, including payments for medical and surgical attendance, legal expenses, salaries and expenses of investigators, adjusters and field men, rents, stationery, telegraph and telephone charges, postage, salaries and expenses of office employees, home office expenses, and all other payments made on account of claims, whether such payments shall be allocated to specific claims or unallocated. All unallocated liability loss expense payments made in a given calendar year subsequent to the first four years in which an insurer has been issuing liability policies shall be distributed as follows: Thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding and five per centum to the policies written in the fourth year preceding, and such payments made in each of the first four calendar years in which an insurer issues liability policies shall be distributed as follows: In the first calendar year one hundred per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, in the second calendar year fifty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year and fifty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, in the third calendar year forty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, and twenty per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and in the fourth calendar year thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, fifteen per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and a schedule showing such distribution shall be included in the annual statement. All unallocated compensation loss expense payments made in a given calendar year subsequent to the first three years in which an insurer has been issuing compensation policies shall be distributed as follows: Forty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty-five per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding and five per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and such payments made in each of the first three calendar years in which an insurer issues compensation policies shall be distributed as follows: In the first calendar year one hundred per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, in the second calendar year fifty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year and fifty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, in the third calendar year forty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty-five per centum to the policies written in the preceding year and ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and a schedule showing such distribution shall be included in the annual statement. Whenever, in the judgment of the superintendent of insurance, the liability or compensation loss reserves of any insurer under his supervision, calculated in accordance with the foregoing provisions, are inadequate, he may, in his discretion, require such insurer to maintain additional reserves based upon estimated individual claims or otherwise. Each insurer that writes liability or compensation policies shall include in the annual statement required by law a schedule of its experience thereunder in such form as the superintendent of insurance may prescribe.

OKLAHOMA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, A. L. WELCH, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, OKLAHOMA CITY.

OKLAHOMA.

ADVERTISEMENTS, REGULATIONS GOVERNING.—Must contain location of company and State or government under whose laws it is organized.

AGENT DEFINED.—Acknowledged agent, surveyor, broker, or any other person or persons who shall in any manner aid in transacting the insurance business of any insurance company not licensed to transact business in this State. Held personally liable.

AGENT'S LICENSE.—Annual fee, $3.

ANNUAL STATEMENT.—Date for filing annual statements showing business in United States made out to December 31 preceding, on or before last day of February.

ATTORNEY FOR SERVICE.—Appoint Insurance Commissioner.

COMPANY DEFINED.—No provision.

COMPANY LICENSE.—License for accident and health insurance company, jointly, $100 a year; surety and bond company, $150 a year; plate glass and live stock companies, each $25 a year; local agent, $3.

COMPANY OF FOREIGN COUNTRY.—No provision.

DEPOSIT.—No foreign insurance company shall be granted a license or permitted to do business in this State until it shall have complied with the laws of this State, including the deposit of such collateral or indemnity for the protection of its patrons as may be prescribed by law, and shall agree to pay all such taxes and fees as may at any time be imposed by law or act of the Legislature on foreign insurance companies, and a refusal to pay such taxes or fees shall work a forfeiture of such license.

EXAMINATION.—At discretion of Commissioner.

FEES.—All fees except the annual entrance fee are the same as for fire companies, viz.: Annual entrance fee, $100; filing annual statement, reciprocal; copy of charter, $30; appointment of attorney for service, $3; each agent's license, $3; and the minimum annual entrance fee for any line of miscellaneous insurance except live stock and plate glass, is $100. The Constitution specifically provides the annual entrances fees of live stock, life, fire, accident and health, surety and bond, and plate glass companies, and where companies transact more than one line of insurance, they are charged the entrance fee specifically set out in the Constitution for the different classes of insurance transacted, but if they desire to transact any class of insurance not specifically covered by the provisions of the Constitution, they are not charged an entrance fee for that line; for instance, a company writing personal accident and health insurance, also burglary and steam boiler insurance, is charged only the entrance fee for accident and health, $100; but if it desires to transact plate glass insurance, it would be charged an additional $25, inasmuch as the Constitution provides a specific fee for that class of insurance.

Surety Companies. Annual entrance fee, $150; filing annual statement, reciprocal; filing copy of charter, $30; appointment of attorney for service, $3; each agent's license, $3.

FUNDS.—Surety company, $400,000 capital, in cash or its equivalent.

IMPAIRMENT OF CAPITAL.—No agent shall be allowed to transact insurance for any company whose capital is impaired while such deficiency shall continue.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.—Live stock; the law permits the entry of stock companies only.

MISREPRESENTATION.—No provision.

PENALTIES.—For violating any provision of insurance law, $500, maximum penalty.

POLICY FORM AND PROVISIONS.—Policy must contain copy of application; furnish Insurance Department with copy of each form, application and rate book.

PRELIMINARY DOCUMENTS.—Copy of charter; statement of name and financial condition; copy of last annual report.

PUBLICATION.—No provision.

REBATES.—No provision.

RECIPROCAL LAW.—Yes.

REMOVAL OF SUITS.—H. B. No. 131, L. 1907-08. Forfeiture of license.

RESERVE FOR REINSURANCE, METHOD OF CALCULATION.—No provision.

RESIDENT AGENT LAW.—Yes.

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT.—No provision.

ADVERTISEMENTS, REGULATIONS GOVERNING.—No provision.

AGENT DEFINED.—The agent of any foreign insurance company which does not comply with the laws of this Commonwealth shall be personally liable on all contracts of insurance made by him for such company.

AGENT'S LICENSE.—Company must certify to Commissioner the names of its appointed agents, and agent must procure certificate from Commissioner.

ANNUAL STATEMENT.—Date for filing, on or before March 1. Fidelity companies file statement in January, together with certificate of home department of required deposit. Blanks furnished by Commissioner. Insurance Commissioner may request additional statements whenever he deems it necessary.

ATTORNEY FOR SERVICE.—Appoint Insurance Commissioner.

COMPANY DEFINED.—No provision.

COMPANY OF FOREIGN COUNTRY.—Same requirements as for other State companies.

COMPANY LICENSE.—Date of expiration, March 31.

DEPOSIT.—See "Funds."

EXAMINATION.—At the discretion of the Commissioner.

FEES.—Filing certified copy of charter, $25; filing annual statement or certificate in lieu thereof, $20; each certificate of authority and certified copy thereof, $2; every copy of any paper filed in department, 20 cents per folio, and for affixing seal to and certifying same, $1.

FUNDS.—Fidelity companies must have a paid-up, unimpaired and safely-invested capital of at least $250,000, and companies transacting credit insurance $200,000 capital. Companies transacting one class of miscellaneous insurance must have $100,000 capital. Companies transacting more than one class of business must have $50,000 additional capital for each class except credit, for which the additional capital shall be $100,000, and fidelity and surety, for which the additional capital shall be $200,000. But companies with $250,000 paid-up capital may transact all miscellaneous lines except credit, live stock and fidelity and surety, and companies with $500,000 capital may transact all such classes except live stock.

IMPAIRMENT OF CAPITAL.—In case a company's capital becomes impaired to an extent that the Insurance Commissioner deems that the policyholders are afforded inadequate protection he may cause it to cease writing new business pending the removal of impairment, and in case such impairment is not made good within reasonable time apply, through the Attorney General, for a receiver.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.—Pennsylvania employers' liability law, commonly known as the Casey bill:

Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., That in all actions brought to recover from an employer for injury suffered by his employee, the negligence of a fellow-servant of the employee shall not be a defense where the injury was caused or contributed to by any of the following causes; namely:

Any defect in the works, plant, or machinery, of which the employer could have had knowledge by the exercise of ordinary care; the neglect of any person engaged as superintendent, manager, foreman, or any other person in charge or control of the works, plant or machinery; the negligence of any person in charge of or directing the particular work in which the employee was engaged at the time of the injury or death; the negligence of any person to whose orders the employee was bound to conform, and did conform, and, by reason of his having conformed thereto, the injury or death resulted; the act of any fellow-servant, done in obedience to the rules, instructions, or orders given by the employer, or any other person who has authority to direct the doing of said act.

Section 2. The manager, superintendent, foreman, or other person in charge or control of the works, or any part of the works, shall, under this act, be held as the agent of the employer in all suits for damages for death or injury suffered by employees.

Section 3. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

RESERVE FOR REINSURANCE, METHOD OF CALCULATION.—Fifty per cent of gross premiums on all unexpired risks that have less than one year to run and the pro rata of all premiums received on risks that have more than one year to run.

SPECIAL RESERVE FOR LIABILITY COMPANY.—Every insurance company which has for ten years or more undertaken to insure persons, firms or corporations against loss or damage on account of the bodily injury or death by accident of any person for which loss or damage said persons, firms or corporations are respectively responsible shall, on or before the first day of October in each year, render to the Insurance Commissioner a statement in writing of its business transacted in the United States, which shall show separately for each of the five calendar years constituting the first half of the period of ten years next preceding the thirty-first day of December of the year in which the statement is made.

1. The number of persons reported injured under all its forms of liability policies, whether such injuries were reported to the home office of the company or to any of its representatives, and whether such injury resulted in loss to the company or not.

2. The amount that on or before the thirty-first day of August of the year in which the statement is made had been paid on account or in consequence of all injuries so reported, including therein all payments on suits arising from such injuries.

3. The number of suits or actions under such policies on account of injuries reported which have been settled either by payments or compromise.

4. The amount paid in settlement of such suits or actions on or before the thirty-first day of August of the year when the statement is made, including therein all payments made on account or in consequence of injuries from which the suits arose, whether prior to or later than the date when the suits were brought. Every such company shall, in its financial statements hereafter made in this State, use the experience so ascertained for computing its outstanding losses under all its forms of liability policies, irrespective of the date when the policies were issued. The average cost per suit of settling such cases as computed by the data required in this section, shall be multiplied by the number of suits or actions pending on account of injuries reported prior to eighteen months previous to the date on which the condition of the company is to be ascertained and shown, which suits or sections are being defended for or on account of a holder of any such policy, also the average cost on account of each injured person, determined as aforesaid from the company's experience, shall be multiplied by the number making the statement of the company's condition, whether such injuries were reported to the home office of the company or to any of its representatives. From the sum of these two products so ascertained there shall be deducted the amount of all payments made on account or in consequence of said injuries reported within eighteen months, this amount so deducted to be taken as of the date at which the said statement is made. The sum remaining after making this deduction shall be charged as the liability of the company on account of outstanding losses. Any admitted company issuing liability contracts which by reason of its limited experience in liability underwriting cannot furnish the information required by this section shall nevertheless, until it is able to comply with said requirements, be charged with a liability for outstanding losses upon all kinds of its liability policies an amount not less than the amount resulting from the following process:

The number of suits or actions pending on account of injuries reported prior to eighteen months previous to the date of making up the statement, whether such injuries were reported to the home office of the company or to any of its representatives, which are being defended on account of the holder of any policy, shall be multiplied by the average cost per suit as shown by the average experience of all other admitted liability companies ascertained from the data required by this section, also the number of injuries reported under said policies at any time within eighteen months of making up the statement, whether reported to the home office of the company or to any of its representatives, and whether such injuries resulted in loss to the company or not, shall be multiplied by the average cost for each injured person, as shown by the average of said experience of all other admitted liability companies, ascertained from the data required by this section from the sum of these two products there shall be deducted the amount of all payments made on account or in consequence of said injuries reported within eighteen months, this amount to be taken as of the date at which the statement is made. A sum not less than the amount remaining after this deduction shall be charged as a liability for outstanding losses to liability companies covered by the provisions of this paragraph. The average cost for suits and for injured persons required by this paragraph shall, on or before the first day of December of each year, be furnished by the Insurance Commissioner to every such company which has not had an experience of ten years in liability underwriting. Besides the reserves provided for in this section, each such company shall be charged as a liability with all unpaid losses of which the company received notice on or before December 31, and all other debts and liabilities.

RESIDENT AGENT LAW.—Yes.

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT.—None required.

FUNDS.—In the case of foreign companies with large charter powers, the requirements are as follows: Section 9. "Subject to the right of renewal of license granted previous to August 11, 1899, a license shall not be granted to a company which is by its charter authorized or empowered to carry on classes or branches of insurance greater in number or variety than those for which a license could be granted under the provisions of the last preceding section: Provided that any company incorporated elsewhere than in Canada having a paid-up wholly unimpaired capital of at least three hundred thousand dollars in the case of a company authorized among other classes of business to transact the business of fire insurance, and in the case of any other company of at least one hundred thousand dollars; and (a) which holds over and above all liabilities estimated according to the existing Dominion Government standard a rest or surplus fund equal to at least 20 per centum of such paid-up capital, and the market value of whose stock is at a premium of at least 20 per centum, and (b) which has carried on successfully for a period of at least five years the business for which the license is sought, or which having a paid-up wholly unimpaired capital of at least five hundred thousand dollars, has carried on successfully such business for such shorter period as the Minister deems sufficient, and (c) if the business for which a license is sought consist only of one class of insurance or of such classes as may for the purpose of a license be combined under the provisions of the last preceding section; or (d) which, while not in all respects complying with the requirements of the foregoing paragraphs of this proviso, does not materially fall short thereof in any essential particular, shall be deemed eligible for and entitled to such license upon depositing, keeping and maintaining in Canada to the amount in the next following section specified, assets of the character required by this act in determining whether the assets of a company incorporated or formed elsewhere than in Canada exceed its liabilities." Section 10. "Such assets so required to be deposited, kept and maintained by the company for which the license is asked shall be, to the extent the Treasury Board on the report of the Superintendent shall fix or determine, in excess of the amount which would be required if such company's charter powers were limited to the purposes for which such license is so asked. 2. Such excess shall, in the case of a company applying for a license to transact fire insurance or life insurance, be not less than fifty thousand dollars, and in the case of any other company not less than ten thousand dollars, and in no case more than two hundred thousand dollars.

DEPOSIT.—Fixed in every case by the Treasury Board.

EXAMINATION.—The Superintendent shall visit the head office of each company in Canada at least once in every year and examine carefully the statements of the condition and affairs of each company, and if, after such examination, from the annual or other statements, or for any other cause, deems it necessary and expedient to make a further examination into the affairs of such company, and so reports to the Minister, the Superintendent may be instructed by the Minister to thoroughly inspect such company, and if the latter be found to be unsound, or if it refuses to be examined, its license may be suspended or canceled.

FEES.—The Superintendent is authorized to assess the companies upon their gross premium receipts for the sum required for the expenses of his office. (See "Provincial Fees and Requirements.")

IMPAIRMENT OF CAPITAL.—Capital deemed to be impaired when assets are less than liabilities calculated according to requirements and paid-up capital.

PRELIMINARY DOCUMENTS.—To be filed with the Minister of Finance and Receiver General. Copy of charter, act of incorporation, or articles of association, certified by officer in charge of the original; power of attorney from the company to its chief agent in Canada; statement of condition at end of preceding year. Duplicate copies to be filed in the office of the Superior Courts of the Province where the head office is located, or if in Quebec, with the Prothonotary of the Superior Court. Penalty for doing business without a license, fine and imprisonment. Annual certificate of compliance with laws of home State not required. The company's charter, acts of incorporation or articles of association, and power of attorney to chief agent, need be filed but once, except in event of a change in representation or amendment to charter.

PUBLICATION.—Section 17. "Every company, on first obtaining such license, shall forthwith give due notice thereof in The Canada Gazette, and in at least one newspaper in the county, city or place where the head office or chief agency is established, and shall continue the publication thereof for the space of four weeks."

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Please Read Carefully.

The uniform blank for the annual reports of miscellaneous stock insurance companies adopted by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners includes several mere bookkeeping items which do not properly enter into a cash statement. The items principally affected are Total Income and Total Expenditures, therefore the publishers have ignored certain items called for by the convention blank. The changes from the convention blank are explained below:

PREMIUM INCOME.—The blank since 1908 calls for premiums written during the year instead of net cash premiums. In this publication for the eight years ending with 1916 net premiums written are given, while prior to 1909 the figures represent cash premiums received.

TOTAL INCOME.—This column does not include the item "Gross increase in book value of ledger assets," which is entirely eliminated from the income account. The profit on sales and any profit and loss account are given net, the items on the disbursement side being deducted, or vice versa. Policy fees are omitted.

TOTAL EXPENDITURES.—This column does not include the item "Gross decrease in book value of ledger assets"; which, like the corresponding item in total income, is entirely eliminated. Loss on sales and profit and loss account (if any) are given net. Policy fees retained by agents are omitted.

LOSSES PAID.—The expenses of investigation and adjustment of claims are now called for separately. As the companies properly include these expenses under losses, they have been so included in this publication. In the exhibit of individual lines these expenses are shown separately, with the percentage, however, based on the total of losses paid and claims expense.

FOREIGN COMPANIES.—In the columns headed total income and total expenditures the receipts from and remittances to the home offices are treated net in each case. On page A-104 a special table is given showing the gross receipts from and remittances to the home offices year by year. The differences between the items there given are included in income or disbursements, as the case may be.

Casualty, Surety and Miscellaneous Insurance in the United States

DEVELOPMENT AND STATISTICS OF THE BUSINESS—LAWS RELATING TO THE SAME—DESCRIPTION OF FORMS OF POLICIES—LAWFUL RESERVES REQUIRED—SUMMARY OF CHILD LABOR LAWS, ETC.

By Edwin W. DeLeon, Member Advisory Board, American Association for Labor Legislation

The year 1916 witnessed the high water mark in the number of casualty and miscellaneous companies operating in the United States and in the magnitude of their operations, there being eighty-six stock companies showing an underwriting income earned of $164,379,571, with a net underwriting loss of $1,367,621, or .8 per cent, compared with earned underwriting income in 1915 by seventy-four companies of $137,485,916, and an underwriting loss thereon of $696,310, or about .5 per cent. Not only was the percentage of loss to underwriting income greater in 1916 than in the previous year, but as a matter of fact, it was the highest shown in the past fourteen years, except in the year 1914, when the percentage of underwriting loss was 2.1 per cent. The results of the past year emphasized more strongly than before the inevitably increasing ratio of loss and expense in transacting a general casualty business, particularly as regards that uncertain and as yet almost untried field of workmen's compensation. Sixty-one of these companies contributed earned underwriting income of $125,931,786, or over 75 per cent of the total for the year, with a net loss of $2,255,779, or 1.8 per cent, over double the percentage of net loss sustained by all of the companies for the year. The significance of these figures is further indicated by the fact that of these sixty-one companies, eleven, each receiving a premium income of over one million dollars, earned a profit amounting to less than $1,500,000, whereas eighteen companies sustained a loss of over $3,600,000. The average ratio of net losses incurred to underwriting income earned of these sixty-one companies was 51.8 per cent, and the average expense ratio was 50 per cent. The ratio of profit or loss showed a wide variation, and in the case of a profit ranged from .4 per cent represented by $5737 on a premium income of $1,578,112 to 11 per cent, or $605,874, on a premium income of $5,537,595. Loss ratios varied from .1 per cent, or $4305, on premium income of $3,711,986 to 33 per cent, or $601,587, on premium income of $1,843,083. Twelve companies, transacting mainly fidelity and surety business, showed underwriting income earned of $32,953,615, with losses and underwriting expenses incurred of $32,015,390, a net profit of $938,225. One-half of these companies earned a profit of over $1,850,000, and one-half of them sustained a loss of over $900,000. The average loss ratio was 42.3 per cent, and the average expense ratio was 54.9 per cent, total 97.2 per cent, or a net profit of 2.8 per cent. Four companies, transacting mainly plate glass insurance, showed underwriting income earned of $2,490,098, with losses and underwriting expenses incurred of $2,692,751, or a total loss of $202,653, as not one of the four companies made a profit on its operations for the year. The average loss ratio was 52.3 per cent, and the average expense ratio was 55.8 per cent, total 108.1 per cent, or a net loss ratio of 8.1 per cent. Five companies, tranacting live stock insurance alone, showed earned underwriting income of $416,184, with losses and expenses incurred of $438,845, or over 100 per cent. One company, transacting steam boiler and flywheel insurance, alone showed underwriting income earned of $1,720,940, with losses and expenses incurred of $1,735,619, an underwriting loss of $14,679. The loss ratio was the lowest of any one of the eighty-six companies included in this tabulation, being only 8.8 per cent, but the expense ratio was 92 per cent, the highest, with the exception of one small company. The bulk of this expense went for inspection service, however, for which the company has enjoyed an enviable reputation for many years, and to which is largely attributed the remarkably low loss ratio that has averaged less than 9 per cent for a great many years. One company, transacting only credit insurance, showed an underwriting income of $630,454, with losses and expenses of $468,777, a profit of $161,677, or 25.7 per cent. This showing is remarkable in view of the fact that only a few years ago the operations of this company resulted so disastrously as to seriously impair its financial standing and threaten even the existence of the company. The record for ten years, 1907 to 1916, of these eighty-six companies, points to the inevitable conclusion that better conditions in the business, including a higher scale of rates and a lower ratio of expenses, must be immediately inaugurated if these companies are to remain in the business and earn even a fair dividend for their stockholders, whose funds have been so generously and oftentimes so unwisely invested in the stock of casualty insurance companies. A brief summary of the results accomplished for this period shows an aggregate underwriting income earned of $946,-455,910, with losses and underwriting expenses incurred of $938,100,489. The ratio of losses incurred to income earned was 46.4 per cent, and of expenses incurred to income earned was 52.7 per cent, a total of 99.1 per cent, leaving the slender margin of only 0.9 per cent underwriting profit on total operations amounting to almost one billion dollars. A further analysis of these figures indicates that sixty-one companies transacting a general casualty business earned $720,305,064 income, or over 75 per cent of the total, with losses and expenses incurred of $720,279,581, being also more than 75 per cent of the total of this item, leaving the insignificant balance of $25,483 net underwriting profit during a ten-year period that comprised the greatest advance in the commercial, industrial and scientific development of this country that has ever been known. Twelve companies, transacting principally fidelity and surety business, showed underwriting income earned of $179,291,750, with losses and expenses incurred of $171,993,196, or a net profit of $7,298,554, being 4.1 per cent of earned income. Four companies, whose operations embraced plate-glass insurance almost entirely, showed underwriting income earned of $22,244,333, with loss and expenses incurred of $21,523,037, or a net profit of $721,296, being 3.3 per cent of earned income. One company transacting credit insurance alone showed earned income of $8,674,011, with losses and expenses of $9,528,536, or a net loss of $854,525, nearly 10 per cent on its total premium income. Five companies writing live stock insurance showed underwriting income of $855,192, with losses and expenses of $888,322, a net loss of $33,130 for the entire period. One company, writing steam boiler and flywheel insurance exclusively, showed earned income of $14,399,098, with losses and expenses of $13,219,257, or a net profit of $1,179,847, being 8.2 per cent of income. The rapidly decreasing volume of liability insurance premiums and the more rapidly increasing volume of workmen's compensation business during 1916, as well as for the past five years, have very forcibly demonstrated the early encouraging and later disappointing characteristics of these branches of insurance, and have likewise indicated the steadily rising cost of workmen's compensation and the ultimate loss ratio that will probably be reached by this last, but by no means least important, member of the insurance family. An interesting table is given elsewhere in this chapter showing a comparison of actual loss ratio with probable ultimate ratio, by years of issue, for five years, 1912 to 1916, inclusive, for liability and workmen's compensation business of thirty leading companies. The actual loss ratio is based upon the losses and expenses paid to premiums received and earned, and the probable ultimate loss ratio is predicated upon the losses and expenses paid, plus the net loss reserve at December 31, 1916, to premiums received and earned. The average ratios for each kind of insurance, by years of issue, are as follows: 1912, liability, actual loss ratio 68.3, probable 69.5; compensation, actual 41.6, probable 45; 1913, liability, actual 66.9, probable 70.4; compensation, actual 52.5, probable 58.5; 1914, liability, actual 50.4, probable 56.4; compensation, actual 48.8, probable 60.7; 1915, liability, actual 38.7, probable 52.5; compensation, actual 52.2, probable 74.7; 1916, liability, actual 23.7, probable 42.7; compensation, actual 38.2, probable 81.8. A further study of the ratios for 1916 will indicate the perilous position of some companies, and will satisfactorily account for the increasing number of companies that are discontinuing all workmen's compensation business and are retiring from that field entirely. In the matter of liability experience, the actual loss ratio varies from 18 per cent to 33.6 per cent, compared with the probable ratio varying from 29.8 per cent to 86.5 per cent. On workmen's compensation, the actual ratio varies from 32.1 per cent to 66.8 per cent, while the probable ultimate varies from 56.4 per cent to 159.5 per cent. It is absolutely certain, that had it not been for the insistent and persistent attitude of many leading underwriters in demanding increased rates for compensation business as a whole, in spite of the misguided and misinformed opposition of other officials and managers, it is fair to assume that many more companies would have been compelled to discontinue compensation insurance, and the number of companies that have reinsured or liquidated in the past three years would be greatly increased.

Legislation was enacted in five States this year creating workmen's compensation laws, namely, Delaware, Idaho, New Mexico, South Dakota and Utah. The effective dates of these various laws are, Delaware, Jan. 1, 1918; Idaho, Jan. 1, 1918; New Mexico, South Dakota, July 1, 1917, and Utah, July 1, 1917. There are now six States having State-managed insurance schemes under workmen's compensation laws, and no private insurance company is allowed to transact such insurance. These States are Nevada, Ohio, Oregon, Washington and West Virginia. Seven States have State-managed insurance with which private insurance companies are allowed to compete, namely, California, Colorado, Maryland, Michigan, Montana, New York and Pennsylvania. Twenty-three States have no State-managed insurance of any kind, and all insurance is transacted by private companies. These States are Arizona, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont and Wisconsin. In addition to the above States, workmen's compensation laws are in effect in Alaska and Hawaii, with no governmental insurance, and in Porto Rico, with an exclusive government-managed insurance fund. The workmen's compensation laws of twenty-one States were amended this year, and it is needless to add that these amendments were in the direction of a further broadening of the scope of the law and an extension of the benefits granted thereunder. The unmistakable and perhaps inevitable tendency of all amendments to these laws from year to year is to provide compensation for any disabling injury in any kind of employment, and to place the entire burden, both as to compensation benefits and medical and hospital treatment, squarely upon the industry, regardless of the kind of injury sustained or of the nature and extent of the disability involved. Waiting periods are being gradually reduced, and will no doubt be entirely eliminated by radical legislation in those States where social reform is likely to run rampant. Occupational diseases are more and more brought within the category of injuries, as within the intent, if not the language, of many of these laws. The territorial scope within which the law has jurisdiction is becoming extended by many States so as to bring under the law accidents happening anywhere, either on land or sea. The New York law was amended by adding about forty-two new employments to the list of those coming within the scope of the law, including all incidental repair work in connection with buildings in which "hazardous" business is carried on, even though the employees doing such repair work are not regularly employed in such business. The waiting period of two weeks has been eliminated entirely when disability continues for more than seven weeks. Incidental employments, carried on "in connection with" any trade or business deemed "hazardous," are now included under the law. Self-insurers may be required by the State Workmen's Compensation Commission to pay into a special fund the commuted value of all awards where payments are to continue for more than two years. The amended law was signed by Governor Whitman June 1, 1917, and took effect July 1, 1917. The new Federal Workmen's Compensation law became effective on September 7, 1916, on which day it was signed by President Wilson. Three days earlier it had been passed by both houses of Congress, with only three votes against it. This law, known as the "Kern-McGillicuddy Bill," was first introduced over three and one-half years earlier, and was later presented to Congress at least eight times. It is claimed that the first Federal workmen's compensation law was passed as the result of President Roosevelt's insistence, during his term of office, that some kind of compensation law be enacted. This led to the so-called "Cannon" law of 1908, that for eight years stood on the statute books as among the worst of the compensation laws of any country in the world. It covered only artisans and laborers in manufacturing establishments, arsenals, navy yards, river and harbor and fortification work, hazardous employment in reclamation of arid lands and under the Panama Canal Commission. The law was later extended to include all employees under the Panama Canal Commission, and employees engaged in hazardous occupations under the Bureau of Mines, the Lighthouse Service and the Forestry Service. These amendments, together with the original law, provided for about 95,000 employees, or only a fraction of the total number of persons engaged in Federal service, to whom the benefits of such a law should have been extended. During the first five years of its operation about 42,000 accidents were reported, including about 1000 fatal cases; but less than 15,000 claims for compensation were made, for the other 27,000 employees, or nearly sixty-five per cent of the total number of those reported injured or killed, were decided to be outside the scope of the law. They could not even sue for damages, as a workman in private employment might do, because the sovereign power of the State cannot be held liable for damages in such cases. Their only chance for relief was through special bills passed in their behalf, after being introduced and referred to the House Committee on Claims. During five years' administration of the law the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics approved claims aggregating $1,803,923. Yet this large sum, when considered in connection with individual awards, was conspicuously small and inadequate. The official report states that "fractures of an arm or leg led to payments in amounts of less than $25, the loss of an eye in amounts varying between $25 and $50, and in the case of the loss of a right arm the injured workman was entitled to a payment of less than $50, while in three cases of the loss of both legs the average compensation was $377.40. The new law covers all of the half million civil employees of the government, instead of only one-third of them, as covered by the old law. Many occupational diseases are included within the term "personal injury," that were excluded under the former law. Benefits are paid to disabled workmen beginning with the fourth day of disability, whereas the former law allowed no benefits unless disability extended into the sixteenth day, thereby depriving about eighty per cent of injured workmen of compensation and encouraging malingering. The new law grants, in case of death, 35 per cent of wages to the widow and 10 per cent additional to each child, up to 66⅔ per cent total, payments to continue until the wife remarries or the child dies, marries or reaches age 18, or if over 18 and incapable of self-support, becomes self-supporting. For total disability the new act allows 66⅔ per cent of wages during disability, and for partial disability allows 66⅔ per cent of the loss of earning capacity. Reasonable medical, surgical and hospital services are allowed to the injured workman, whereas the old law made no provision for such service. The new law is administered by a commission of three members, appointed by the President, and there is a total appropriation of $550,000 for the first year. Many of the standards contained in the new law have been adopted by such important industrial States as New York, Massachusetts, Ohio and Wisconsin for private employments in connection with their compensation laws. Seven leading States amended their Liability Loss Reserve Laws this year, effective as follows: The California law was approved by the Governor May 26, 1917; the Connecticut law was approved March 27, 1917, and took effect August 1, 1917; the Indiana law was approved March 7, 1917, and became effective upon publication, as provided by statutes of the State; the Massachusetts law was approved February 19, 1917, and became effective thirty days thereafter; the New York law was approved May 1, 1917, and came into force on that date; the South Dakota law was approved March 10, 1917, and took effect July 1, 1917; the Wisconsin law was approved May 3, 1917, and became effective May 7, 1917.

The question of compulsory health insurance received considerable attention during the past year, and no less an authority on social insurance than Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale University and president of the American Association for Labor Legislation, sums up the purposes of legislation on this subject by stating, "We conclude that health insurance is needed in the United States in order to tide the workers over the grave emergencies incident to illness, as well as in order to reduce illness itself, lengthen life, abate poverty, improve working power, raise the wage level and diminish the causes of industrial discontent. It is not a panacea. It will not bring the millennium. But there is no other measure now before the public which equals the power of health insurance toward social regeneration." The main argument of the advocates for some sort of compulsory health insurance is the same as was advanced in favor of workmen's compensation insurance, namely, that the care of the sick and disabled among the working classes should not be borne by working people alone, but that the industries as well as society at large should both be required to bear their share of this burden. A standard law has been proposed to provide compulsory health insurance, and among the reasons advanced for this feature of the law are: because it is essentially a public matter; because in no other way can more than a small number of persons be reached; because by this means only can a coherent and fairly administered system be operated, bringing benefits to all who should have them; because it is more efficient and economical and brings maximum benefits at minimum cost; because those who are not reached by voluntary insurance, the careless, impoverished and indifferent, are those who need the protection the most to prevent the spread of disease and to improve the efficiency and longevity of working people; because on no other basis than compulsion can the highest purposes be served or contribution by all employers ratably and by the State be justified. The opponents of any form of compulsory health insurance are equally vehement in denying the need for such legislation, and they assert that there is no real foundation for the claims that high sickness and high death rates prevail in the United States among wage-earners; that the average workman when sick is unable to meet the cost of proper medical care and provide for his dependents; and that existing agencies are inadequate to furnish necessary relief. The most exhaustive, and perhaps the most forcible arguments against compulsory sickness insurance are summed up in a paper by Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, entitled "Facts and Fallacies of Compulsory Health Insurance." He says that such insurance is strongly opposed by organized labor and other important labor interests; that it is opposed by business interests as visionary, dangerous class legislation, inimical to the future of American industry and the general welfare of wage-earners; that it has not been officially approved or indorsed by either the American Medical Association or the American Public Health Association; that it is seriously misleading to assert that compulsory health insurance is primarily a health measure, since as a matter of fact it is essentially a method of providing pecuniary relief during sickness; that the medical and sanitary progress of the United States, without social insurance, has been as satisfactory, if not more so, as the corresponding progress of Germany and other European countries; that the problem of compulsory health insurance resolves itself into fundamental questions of taxation and government control of individual medical treatment and sickness relief. The administrative expenses would be enormous, the political complications most serious; drastic interference with personal rights and liberties would be inevitable; and that the aggregate direct cost for medical attendance and relief to wage-earners and their dependents, employers and the general public, would not fall below three-fourths of a billion dollars a year. The discussion goes on apace, and meanwhile legislation is threatened in some States, and in Massachusetts a bill has already been introduced providing for compulsory health insurance for wage-earners of that State.

The report of the Industrial Accident Commission of California for the year ending June 30, 1916, states that the number of employers of the excepted classes of labor, namely, farm labor, domestic service and casual labor, increased to 17,891, who had voluntarily accepted the provisions of the act during the year ending June 30, 1916, of whom 10,397 were engaged in farm labor, about fourteen per cent of all the labor-employing farmers of the State. The State compensation insurance fund, during the two and one-half years of its operation, from January 1, 1914, received total net income of $1,635,043, including $100,000 from State appropriation, and disbursed $1,258,599, including $396,803 for losses, $647,048 loss reserve, and $214,736 management expenses, leaving a surplus of $376,445. Out of this dividends of $134,381, averaging about fifteen per cent for each of the years 1914 and 1915, were paid to policyholders. The loss ratio for two and a half years was 49.99, the expense ratio was 14.47. During the period in question the total number of reported injuries increased from 62,211, of which 678 were fatal, in 1914 to 67,538 in 1915, while the indications, from the data of the first six months of 1916 would probably bring the total to 80,000 injuries, including 650 deaths for the full year. Total payments by employers and insurance carriers were $2,002,706 in 1915, as against $1,861,809 in 1914. Medical service constituted 42.5 per cent of these payments in 1915, compared with 39.2 per cent in 1914. The third annual report of the Massachusetts Industrial Accident Board for the year ending June 30, 1915, presents a review of the operations of the compensation act for the three years of its existence. One of the important tables shows that during the first year total reported accidents numbered 90,168, during the second year 96,891, and during the third year 94,967; total for the three years 282,026. The number of insured cases was 73,152 for the first year, 84,168 for the second year, and 86,648 the third year; total for three years 243,968, or 86.5 per cent of all injuries reported. The duration of disability from accidents shows a marked increase in the number of short-time disabilities as follows:

Under one day, first year, 36,901; second year, 41,269; third year, 42,478.

One day to two weeks, first year, 31,685; second year, 34,054; third year, 31,177.

Over two weeks, first year, 21,108; second year, 21,059; third year, 20,942.

Fatal cases, first year, 474; second year, 509; third year, 370.

Occupational diseases are considered as "personal injuries" under the Massachusetts law, which was the first State to adopt this liberal view, and which has been recognized thus far by not more than three other States. The number of such cases is steadily increasing from 107 the first year to 364 the second year and 702 the third year.

The report of the New York Industrial Commission for 1915 reviews the operations of the compensation act for the first eighteen months, from July 1, 1914, to December 31, 1915. The data regarding accident experience and awards is given for the first nine months only; that is, to March 31, 1915, for the period during which all claims were made directly to and settled by the Commission. During that period, 29,680 awards were made, aggregating $4,880,433, excluding medical service. The estimated cost for a year figured on that basis would be $6,507,245. The medical service is estimated at $2,463,750 additional, making a grand total of $8,970,995 as the amount of compensation benefits for one year. It is interesting to note, however, that one year later a member of the Industrial Commission estimated that for the year 1916 the number of compensated injuries was about 60,000, and the total cost, excluding medical service, was about $11,000,000, which is almost double the cost estimated for the year 1915. Of the total number and value of all awards made in the eighteen months' period above named, the average value of the death awards with dependents was $3874, while the average award for permanent total disability was $7475, the average for permanent partial disability was $520, and for temporary total disability was $42. An interesting comparison between these averages and the corresponding averages for awards made under policies issued by the State Insurance Fund shows that of the 10,307 cases handled by the State fund for the year ending June 30, 1015, the average death benefit with defendants was $3997 for State Fund fatal cases, compared with $3874 for all death cases, while the average award by the State Fund, excluding medical service, was $263, as against $157 average for the entire 29,680 cases.

a marked difference, due, mainly, to the much larger percentage of fatal cases with dependants among State Fund accidents than among the whole number of reported cases.

FORMS OF CASUALTY, FIDELITY, SURETY AND MISCELLANEOUS POLICIES.

There are fourteen regular forms of liability policies in general use, known, respectively, as Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation; Manufacturers' Employers' Liability; Manufacturers' Public Liability; Contractors' Employers' Liability; Contractors' Public Liability; General or Landlords' Liability; Teams' or Vehicle Liability; Automobile Liability; Elevator Liability; Vessel Employers' Liability; Vessel Employers' and Public Liability; Owners' Protective or Contingent Liability; Contractors' Protective or Contingent Liability and Theater Liability.

EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY AND WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION POLICY.

"Standard Form Employer's Liability and Workmen's Compensation Policy Approved by the Insurance Department of the State of New York and Acceptable as Evidence of Insurance by the State Workmens Compensation Commission."

Name of Company (hereinafter called the Company), does hereby agree with the employer (hereinafter called the Employer) named and described as such in the declarations hereinafter set forth, and hereby made a part hereof, as respects personal injuries sustained by employees, including death, at any time resulting therefrom, as follows:

Compensation.—I. To pay in the manner provided by the New York Workmens Compensation Law and all amendments thereto, any sum due or to become due from the Employer because of any such injury, and the obligation for compensation therefor imposed upon the Employer by such law. It is agreed that all of the provisions of such law covered hereby shall be a part of this contract as fully and completely as though written herein, so far as they apply to compensation for any personal injury or death covered by this policy while it shall remain in force. This obligation for compensation shall include all provisions of such law respecting funeral expenses, medical, surgical and other attendance and treatment, nurse and hospital service, medicines, crutches and apparatus.

Liability.—II. To indemnify the Employer against loss by reason of the liability imposed upon the Employer by law for damages on account of such injuries.

Service.—III. To serve the Employer (1) by the inspection of work places set forth in said declarations, and thereupon to suggest to the Employer such changes and improvements as may operate to reduce the number and severity of personal injuries during work; and (2) upon notice of such injuries so sustained, by investigation thereof and by settlement of any resulting claims in accordance with the law.

Defense.—IV. To defend in the name and on behalf of the Employer, any suits or other proceedings which may at any time be instituted against him on account of such injuries, including suits or other proceedings alleging such injuries and demanding damages or compensation therefor, although such suits, proceedings, allegations and demands are wholly groundless, false or fraudulent.

Costs and Expenses.—V. To pay all costs taxed against the Employer in any legal proceeding defended by the Company, all interest accruing after entry of judgment, and all expenses incurred by the Company for investigation, negotiation and defense.

Employees Covered.—VI. This policy shall cover only employees of the Employer, legally employed, whose remuneration is included in said declarations, but nothing in this policy shall be construed as excluding any employee who may become entitled to compensation under the provisions of the New York Workmen's Compensation Law and all amendments thereto, all of whom shall be expressly included.

Policy Term.—VII. This policy shall apply only to such injuries so sustained by reason of accidents occurring within the policy term as limited and defined in Item 2 of said declarations.

THIS POLICY IS SUBJECT TO THE FOLLOWING CONDITIONS:

Basis of Premium.—A. The premium rates in said declarations are subject to such change as shall be justified by the last schedule rating inspection report, which shall be made within six months after this policy takes effect. Any such change of such rates shall take effect as of the date this policy takes effect, but in no event shall more than one change in such rates be made during the term of this policy. The premium is based upon the entire remuneration earned during the term of the policy by all employees of the Employer, except that no premium charge shall be made upon any portion of the remuneration of any officer of a corporation in excess of $1,500 per annum. If the earned premium thus computed is greater than the advance estimated premium paid, the Employer shall immediately pay the additional amount to the Company; if less, the Company shall immediately return the unearned premium to the Employer.

Employee's Recourse to Company.—B. The Workmens Compensation Commission of the State of New York shall have the right to enforce, in the name of the people of the State, for the benefit of the persons entitled to the compensation herein insured, either by filing a separate application or by making the Company a party to the original application, the liability of the Company in whole or in part for the payment of compensation; provided, however, that payment in whole or in part of such compensation either by the Employer or the Company shall, to the extent thereof, be a bar to the recovery against the other of the amount so paid.

Knowledge and Jurisdiction of Employer Deemed Knowledge and Jurisdiction of Company.—C. As between the employee or his dependents and the Company, the notice to or knowledge of the occurrence of an injury on the part of the Employer shall be deemed notice or knowledge, as the case may be, on the part of the Company. The jurisdiction of the Employer shall be the jurisdiction of the Company and the Company shall in all things be bound by and subject to the orders, findings, decisions or awards rendered against the Employer for the payment of compensation under the provisions of the New York Workmens Compensation Law.

Insolvency of Employer Does Not Relieve Company.—D. The insolvency or bankruptcy of the Employer shall not relieve the Company from the payment of compensation for such injuries sustained by an employee during the life of this policy.

Cancellation.—E. This policy may be canceled by either party upon ten days' notice to the other party stating when thereafter cancellation shall be effective, and the date of cancellation shall then be the end of the policy term. Such notice of cancellation shall be served on the Employer by delivering it to him, or by sending it by mail by registered letter addressed to the Employer at his last known place of residence; provided that if the employer be a partnership, then such notice may be so given to any one of the partners, and if the employer be a corporation, then such notice may be given to any agent or officer of the corporation upon whom legal process may be served. Notice of intention to cancel shall be filed in the office of the Workmens Compensation Commission at least ten days prior to its effective date. The earned premiums shall be computed upon the basis of the remuneration to date of cancellation. If such cancellation is at the Company's request, or at the Employer's request when actually retiring from the business herein described, the earned premium shall be computed as provided in Condition A, and adjusted pro rata. If such cancellation is at the Employer's request and he is not retiring from the business herein described, the earned premium shall be computed and adjusted at short rates in accordance with the table printed hereon, but such short rate premium shall not be less than the minimum premium stated in said declarations.

Unconstitutionality or Invalidity of Law Requires Readjustment of Premium Rates.—F If the New York Workmens Compensation Law shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional in whole or in part, by the judgment of the court of last resort, the premium rates provided by this policy or any endorsement hereon, shall apply until the date of such judgment, and the Company shall immediately readjust the premium rates provided by this policy subject to the approval of the Superintendent of Insurance so as to equitably reflect the changed conditions.

Inspection of Plant and Examination of Books.—G. The Company shall be permitted, at all reasonable times, to inspect the plants, works, machinery and appliances of the Employer; and to examine the Employer's books and records at any reasonable time during the policy term or any extension thereof or within one year after its final expiration, for the purpose of determining the actual premium earned while the policy was in force.

Notice.—H. Upon the occurrence of an accident the Employer shall give immediate written notice thereof to the company or its duly authorized agent. He shall give like notice with full particulars of any claim made on account of such accident. If any suit or other proceeding is instituted against the Employer, he shall immediately forward to the Company every notice, summons or other process served upon him.

Assignment.—J. No assignment or change of interest under this Policy shall bind the Company unless its consent shall be endorsed hereon or attached hereto, signed by a duly authorized officer of the company.

Subrogation.—K. In case of the payment of loss or expense under this policy, the Company shall be subrogated to all the rights of the Employer or any employee or dependent covered hereby, to the extent of such payment, and the Employer shall execute all papers required and shall co-operate with the Company to secure its rights.

Changes in Policy.—L. No condition or provision in this Policy shall be waived or altered except by endorsement hereon or attached hereto signed by a duly authorized officer of the Company.

Acceptance.—M. The Employer, by the acceptance of this policy, declares the statements in items numbered 1 to 11, inclusive, in said declarations to be true, except such as are declared to be matters of estimate only; and this policy is issued in consideration thereof, and the provisions of the policy as respects its premium, and the payment of such premium.

Manufacturers' Employers' Liability.

This form of policy insures manufacturers against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by an employee or employees of the assured while within the factory, shop or yards, or ways immediately adjacent thereto, and resulting from the business operations of the assured. The premium is based on the total estimated annual compensation of all employees, but it is permissible to exclude the salaries of executive officers not actually directing or superintending; the salaries of office and clerical force, if these employees are not to be covered by the policy; the wages of pieceworkers employed away from the premises, and the wages of drivers and drivers' helpers, if a concurrent teams' policy is carried. At the expiration of policy a statement must be rendered to the company by the assured, of the actual compensation earned by all employees covered by the policy, and if this amount exceeds the estimate upon which the policy was issued, the excess premium calculated at the rate named in the policy must be paid to the company. On the other hand, if this amount is less than the estimate, the company will refund to the assured the amount of such difference calculated in the same way, subject, however, to a minimum premium of $25.00 for every policy.

Manufacturers' Public Liability.

This form of policy applies to persons other than the employees of the assured, but in all other respects is identical with the Manufacturers' Employers' Liability contract.

Contractors' Employers' Liability.

This form of policy insures contractors, builders, electric light and power companies, telegraph and telephone and mining companies against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by an employee or employees of the assured at the location where work is being done or business operations carried on, and resulting from said work or business operations of the assured. The premium is calculated and adjusted substantially in the same way as for Manufacturers' Employers' Liability, subject to a minimum premium of $50.00 for each policy.

Contractors' Public Liability.

This form of policy applies to persons other than the employees of the assured, but in every other respect is identical with the provisions of the Contractors' Employers' Liability contract.

General or Landlords' Liability.

This form of policy insures owners, lessees or tenants of premises (not manufacturers) against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured while within the premises, or upon the sidewalks or approaches immediately adjacent thereto, and resulting from the business operations of the assured. The premium is based upon the total area and frontage of the premises, and upon the number and kind of elevators to be insured. This form of policy is adapted to the use of apartment houses, cemeteries, churches, clubs, hotels, office buildings, private dwellings, public libraries, public museums and picture galleries, restaurants, retail stores, sidewalks used by hucksters, tenements, vacant land, wharf and water-front property, wholesale stores and wholesale and retail stores.

Teams' Liability.

This form of policy insures the owners or users of horses and vehicles against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured by means of the use of such horses or vehicles in the business operations of the assured. The premium is based upon the number of vehicles in use, which is determined by the number of drivers employed, by calculating from the total pay roll of drivers the average wages per driver. The adjustment of premium at expiration is made in the same manner as for Manufacturers' Employers' Liability.

The premium for vehicles adapted for private use only is based upon the number of such vehicles driven by the assured or any employee. If the policy is to be extended to cover vehicles while in charge of members of the assured's family the premium is based upon the number of horses owned, in place of upon the number of vehicles.

Automobile Liability.

This form of policy insures the owners or users of automobiles against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured by reason of the ownership, maintenance or use of such automobiles. The premium for business vehicles is based upon the number of drivers employed, and is calculated and adjusted in the same manner as for teams' insurance. The premium for private vehicles is calculated upon the number of cars owned and the horsepower of each car, subject, however, to a minimum premium per car regardless of horsepower. A different charge is made for the kind of motive power used as between gasoline or electric, and as between locations where the assured resides, these locations being generally divided into three schedules, covering under schedule 1 Greater New York territory, comprising the entire Boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn and Bronx and the entire Borough of Queens, excepting town of Far Rockaway and Rockaway Peninsular; the city of Chicago and counties of Cook, Lake and Du Paige, also Hammond, Ind., and all territory between it and Illinois State line. Under schedule 2 the cities of Boston and nineteen cities and towns immediately adjacent; Providence and counties of Providence, Kent and Bristol; under schedule 3 all locations not included in previous schedules.

An additional charge is made for all types of automobiles to provide "combination coverage" (employers' liability and workman's compensation), in those States where compensation laws are in force.

This form of policy may also be extended to cover what is known as property damage insurance, protecting the assured against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law upon the assured for damages on account of damage to or destruction of property of any description, except property of the assured or property of others while in charge of the assured, or any of the assured's employees, or while carried in or upon any of the automobiles insured, resulting from the ownership, maintenance or use of any such automobiles, excluding, however, damage or destruction by fire from any cause.

The policy may also be extended to cover property damage, including loss of use of property injured or destroyed under the following form of endorsement:

In consideration of an additional premium of $....., this policy also covers the assured's legal liability to other persons for the injury to or destruction (and the loss of use of) of the property of such persons resulting solely and directly from the ownership, maintenance or use of the automobile herein described, provided such injury or destruction occurs during the period covered by the policy (excluding, however, the property of the assured or in charge of the assured or any of his employees or carried in or upon the automobile described herein), as well as the legal expenses incurred by the assured with the consent of the company in connection therewith; subject, however, to the following limitations and exclusions:

(1) The company's liability for such injury or destruction is limited to the actual value of the property destroyed at the time of its destruction and/or the actual cost of the suitable repair of the property injured, but in no case shall the company be liable with respect to claims arising from one accident for more than $.....

(2) The insurance under this endorsement does not attach or cover while the automobile herein described is being operated in any race or speed contest or while being operated by any person under the age of sixteen years or under the age limit fixed by law.

It is a condition of this endorsement that if action be brought against the assured to enforce a claim for damage covered hereby, he shall immediately notify the company and promptly forward to it every summons or other paper or process served on or received by him in connection therewith, whereupon the company will, at its own cost, defend such action in the name and on behalf of the assured.

It is a condition of this endorsement that the assured whenever requested by the company, shall aid in effecting settlement, securing information and evidence, and the attendance of witnesses; but the assured shall not voluntarily assume any liability or interfere in any negotiation for settlement or in any legal proceeding, or incur any expense or settle any claim except at his own cost, without the written consent of the company previously given him.

The policy may also be extended to cover what is known as collision insurance, protecting the assured against loss or expense by reason of damage to or destruction of any of the automobiles insured, including the operating equipment of the same while attached thereto caused solely by collision with another object, either moving or stationary, excluding damage or destruction by fire from any cause, and damage or destruction caused by striking any portion of the roadbed, or by striking street or steam railroad rails or ties; excluding also damage to or destruction of tires, unless the entire loss, including such tires resulting from one collision, shall exceed the sum of $200, in which case damage to or destruction of tires shall be paid for.

The premium for the first $1000 of property damage insurance for private cars is usually figured at twenty-five per cent of the premium charged for automobile liability insurance, and four per cent of such property damage premium is charged for each additional $100 of property damage insurance.

The premium for the first $1000 property damage insurance for commercial and demonstrating cars is usually figured at forty per cent of the premium charged for liability policy, and two and one-half per cent of such property damage premium is charged for each additional $100 of property damage insurance.

The premium for the first $1000 property damage on public vehicles is usually figured at thirty per cent of the premium charged for liability policy, and for each additional $100 of property damage the percentage of charge is the same as that charged for commercial and demonstrating cars.

The premium charged for collision insurance is specifically determined for each car in the case of private cars, and for public vehicles, livery vehicles and cars used for commercial and demonstrating purposes the premium is figured at a percentage of the manufacturer's catalogue list price, plus full cost of equipment.

Under the heading of automobile insurance, as developed in recent years, the following general classifications are included:

1. Motorcycles, designed to carry but one person; premium based upon number of machines to be covered.

2. Pleasure vehicles, vehicles of the private type, including motor bicycles or tricycles, designed to carry more than one person; premium based upon the number and horsepower of vehicles insured.

3. Public vehicles, taxicabs, omnibuses and livery vehicles in general; premium based upon the number and carrying capacity of vehicles insured, regardless of horsepower, except that for livery vehicles of the private-car type the premium is based upon horsepower.

4. Commercial vehicles for the transportation or delivery of goods, merchandise or for other business use; premium based upon number of cars insured regardless of horsepower.

5. Demonstrating and testing, including cars of all types while being tested or demonstrated; premium based upon the number of chauffeurs employed, each chauffeur to be named, or upon cars specifically insured by manufacturer's number.

6. Garage, sales agency and station risks; premium based upon total pay roll of employees, including executive officers of a corporation or members of a firm or partnership whose salary or compensation is specifically fixed and is not subject to adjustment.

Elevator Liability.

This form of policy insures owners or users of elevators against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured while in the elevator car, or while entering upon or alighting therefrom, or caused by the machinery or appliances connected with the elevator. The premium is based on the number and type of elevators to be insured, whether passenger or freight, sidewalk, one-story, factory, hand hoist, private house, escalator or sidewalk chute.

Vessel Employers' Liability.

This form of policy insures vessel and shipowners against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by an employee or employees of the assured while on or about the vessels or on the ways immediately thereto, and resulting from the business operations of the assured. The premium is based on the total compensation earned by the crew, and is calculated and adjusted in the same manner as for Manufacturers' Employers' Liability. If the hazard of collision is to be included under the policy, an endorsement covering this feature must be attached, for which an additional charge is made. Vessel liability policies are adapted for use of ferry companies, fishing vessels, great lakes, ocean and coastwise steamers, river and sound steamers, sailing vessels and tugboats—towing, and water boats, supplying water for shipping.

Vessel Employers' and Public Liability.

This form of policy applies to employees as well as to persons other than employees, excluding passengers, but in every other respect is identical with the Vessel Employers' Liability contract. An additional charge is made on this policy also, for protection against the hazard of collision.

Theater Liability.

This form of policy insures owners, lessees or tenants of theaters, music halls and other places of amusement or entertainment against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured while within the premises or upon the sidewalks or other ways immediately adjacent thereto. The premium is based upon the total seating capacity in the case of theaters, opera houses and music halls, and upon the total gate receipts in the case of horse shows, dog shows, bicycle shows, automobile shows, agriculture or horicultural shows and baseball grounds.

Owners' Protective or Contingent Liability.

This form of policy insures owners of buildings in course of construction against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured during the continuance of the work, and resulting from the negligence of any contractor or sub-contractor engaged in the work. The premium is based on the estimated total cost of the work, and is adjusted at expiration of policy according as such actual cost is greater or less than the estimated cost.

Contractors' Protective or Contingent Liability.

This form of policy insures contractors for buildings in course of construction against loss or expense by reason of the liability imposed by law for damages on account of bodily injuries, including death, accidentally suffered by any person or persons not employed by the assured during the continuance of the work, and resulting from the negligence of any sub-contractor engaged in doing a part of the work. The premium is based upon a percentage of the estimated cost of the work, less the compensation earned by the employees of the assured. If the assured does no part of the work, the premium is estimated upon the total cost of the work. In either case the adjustment of premium is made as under Owners' Protective or Contingent Liability.

Workmen's Compensation.

This form of policy insures the liability and agrees to pay the compensation and the medical, surgical and hospital expenses and medicines provided for by the Workmen's Compensation Act of the State where the business operations of the assured are carried on. The insurance granted under the policy is unlimited in amount as now required by the compensation law in practically every State. The premium is based upon the total estimated remuneration paid to all employees of the assured, and is adjusted at expiration according to whether said estimate is greater or less than the actual remuneration paid. The compensation law of most States requires the insurance company to assume the cost of medical, surgical and hospital expenses payable to injured employees under the act, but in a few States, notably in New York, the employer is permitted to provide this service independently of the insurance company, and in such cases a discount, ranging from 10 per cent to 20 per cent of the premium, is allowed to the assured, and the policy is endorsed to exclude the payment of all such expenses.

Personal Accident.

This form of policy insures against loss of life, limb, sight and time, and covers bodily injuries suffered by the assured through external, violent and accidental means, and provides for the payment of the principal sum in case of death, loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, or the sight of both eyes, and proportionate parts of the principal sum for the loss of one hand or of one foot, or the sight of one eye; also for the payment of double principal sum if such injuries are sustained while riding as a passenger in or on a public conveyance provided by a common carrier, or while in a passenger elevator, or in consequence of the burning of a building while the assured is therein, or in consequence of the collapse of the outer walls of a building while the assured is therein. For temporary disability the full weekly indemnity is paid during the period of total disability, and a proportion of weekly indemnity is paid during the period of partial disability, depending upon the extent of the disability. The policy also provides for payment in case of sunstroke, freezing, hydrophobia, asphyxiation or blood poison; for hospital expenses for a limited period; for surgeon's fees in case of specified operations; for optional fixed indemnity payable in lieu of weekly indemity for specified injuries; for payment of medical or surgical expenses for a limited period in cases where no disability results from the accident, and for the accumulation of the principal sum insured until same amounts to fifty per cent thereof.

Disability.

This form of policy provides the same benefits as the accident policy above referred to, and in addition pays one-half of the principal sum for blindness or paralysis resulting from sickness. The policy also pays full weekly indemnity for the period of total disability resulting from disease or sickness during the period that the assured was confined to the house, and following this period one-half of the weekly indemnity is paid during the period of total disability and non-confinement to the house. Payment is also made for surgeon's fees for operations on account of specified diseases in addition to specified injuries.

Steam Boiler.

This form of policy covers all direct loss or damage to the property of the assured or to the property of others; also loss of life or personal injuries to any person caused by the explosion, collapse or rupture of a boiler due to steam pressure. The policy may also be extended to cover loss of total profits or income, due to the total or partial destruction of the premises or plant as the result of the explosion, collapse or rupture of any boiler whereby the business of the assured is entirely suspended or materially affected. The premium is based upon the number of boilers insured and the amount of insurance per boiler for any one loss, as well as for total insurance under the policy.

Fly-Wheel.

This form of policy covers all direct loss or damage to the property of the assured and to the property of others, as well as loss of life or bodily injuries to any person caused by the explosion, bursting or breaking of a fly-wheel or other wheel injured. The policy may also be extended to cover loss of total profits or income due to total or partial destruction of the premises or plant as result of the explosion, bursting or breaking of any fly-wheel, or other wheel, whereby the business of the assured is entirely suspended or materially affected.

Use and Occupancy.

This form of insurance is generally written under three headings, namely, manufacturers, mercantile and rental. The first covers factories; the second, wholesale and retail stores, and the third, buildings owned by the assured but rented to others. The contracts provide that if the buildings, plant or machinery are so damaged by explosion as to entirely or partially destroy the premises or machinery, or prevent the continuance of business, the company will pay for the actual loss sustained not exceeding a stipulated sum per day for each working day of such prevention. Loss is computed from the date of occurrence of the accident to the time when the normal resumption of business operations can take place.

Plate Glass.

This form of policy insures against loss or damage by breakage of glass as the result of accident and due to causes beyond the control of the assured. The loss is estimated according to the value of the glass at the time of breakage, and the company may pay the actual value of the glass broken or replace the glass as it may elect. The policy does not cover loss or damage resulting from fire, earthquake, inundation, insurrection, riot nor any military or usurped power; nor from the legal blowing up of buildings, nor from work of construction, alterations or repairs to buildings. The premium is based upon the number of plates and location and description of glass, and an additional premium is charged for all clamped or glued, bent, art or ornamental glass.

Burglary, Theft and Larceny.

Residence burglary and theft policy covers direct loss by burglary, theft or larceny of any of the property of the assured occasioned by its felonious abstraction from the interior of the house, building or apartment occupied by the assured; by any domestic servant or other employee of the assured, or by any other person or persons excepting any person whose property is insured; also against direct loss by damage to such property and to said premises caused by burglars or thieves. The policy covers property belonging to any permanent member of the household who does not pay board or rent, except domestic servants or other employees. The policy does not cover property of servants or employees or during any period of non-occupancy after a total of four months in any one year, unless permitted by endorsement; but in no such event is any loss covered in excess of $100 for jewelry, precious stones or watches occurring during any period of unoccupancy exceeding eighty-four consecutive hours. The policy does not cover loss of money or any plan, pattern, model, document or any one book or manscript in excess of $50, unless specifically insured; nor loss due to explosives, fire or water, invasion, riot or war, the action of the elements, nor loss in excess of the actual cash value of the property taken or damaged.

Mercantile burglary policy insures against direct loss by burglary of merchandise occasioned from its felonious abstraction from the premises occupied by the assured by any person or persons who shall have made entry into the premises during the day or night by the use of actual force and violence, of which there are visible marks upon the premises; also for direct loss by damage to the merchandise, furniture, fixtures or premises caused by such entry or exit.

Mercantile safe policy covers direct loss by burglary of money, postoffice and revenue stamps, bullion, negotiable securities, drafts and promissory notes and merchandise, in consequence of the felonious abstraction of the same by burglars from the safe or safes after entry into the same by the use of tools or explosives; also for direct loss by damage to said merchandise, or to said safe or safes, or to the furniture, fixtures or premises caused by such entry.

Combination messenger, paymaster and interior hold-up and safe burglary policy covers direct loss by robbery of money, bullion, postoffice and revenue stamps, checks, negotiable securities, coupons, bills of exchange, drafts and notes, express, bank and postoffice money orders, watches, jewelry and other merchandise from the care or custody of any employee of the assured while acting as messenger or paymaster, and while conveying the same to or from the place or places directed by the assured; also for direct loss by robbery of any of the property above described, feloniously, violently and forcibly abstracted from within the premises of the assured; for direct loss by robbery, by force or by violence, of money intended for payrolls only from the person, care or custody of any employee of the assured while acting as messenger or paymaster, or while conveying the same to and from such places as directed by the assured; also for direct loss by robbery of any of the property above described from the safe or safes located on the premises of the assured by any person or persons who shall have made entry into such safe or safes by the use of tools or explosives; also for direct loss or damage to said property or said safe or safes or to the furniture, fixtures or premises caused by such entry.

Sprinkler Leakage.

This form of policy covers loss or damage to the property of the assured or to the property of others, held in trust or on commission, or sold but not delivered, due to the accidental discharge or leakage of water from the sprinkler system from any cause, except fire, war or riot, earthquake, storms or cyclones, explosions or blasting, or collapse of the building. The premium is computed upon the amount of insurance, and the rate varies with the class of merchandise insured as well as with the physical hazard of the risk.

CREDIT.

This form of policy covers loss from uncollected accounts, and is a special contract made up to meet the requirements of each individual case. Every policy provides for a minimum amount to be assumed by the assured known as "own loss," or some other similar term, whereby such amount is deducted from every loss sustained before the company is liable under the policy. The rate of premium varies with the class of business, the financial standing and business reputation of the assured, and the amount of indemnity provided by the policy.

INSURANCE AGENTS

A DIRECTORY OF AGENTS REPRESENTING ALL BRANCHES OF INSURANCE IN THE PRINCIPAL CITIES AND TOWNS OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.

EXPLANATION.—In this Directory the letters following the names denote the specialty of the agent, viz.: f—Fire, l—Life, c—Casualty. The term casualty applies to personal accident insurance, plate glass, steam boiler, burglary, and in fact to all classes of insurance indemnifying for casualties or accidental injuries to persons or property. (See also department containing names and addresses of General and Special Agents of the various companies.)
